

DESIGN-BUILD

In the Design-Build approach, the Owner contracts with Grassmere Construction to provide both design and construction services. It is often referred to as a “turn-key” contract.

Under the Design-Build method, the Contractor and Architect/Engineer are allied and work together to serve the Owner. The Owner along with Grassmere and the Consultants work as a TEAM to design and build a project that satisfies the needs of the Owner.

This TEAM approach generates the best ideas from your team members and eliminates blame if and when a discrepancy occurs. Team members focus on solving problems rather than placing blame.
